TABLE D: SCOPE OF WORK

BUSINESS CHALLENGE

The SANCB would like to launch exhibition registration for Meetings Africa 2025 for exhibitors and buyers. To support the exhibitor registration, a sales function is also required. SANCB has opted to procure the services of a registration website platform in anticipation of the appointment of a fully-fledged exhibition management company, just for the 2025 iteration of the show.

WHAT IS NEEDED?

In order to mitigate delays in the launch of registrations for Meetings Africa 2025, the SANCB requires the services of a fully-supported exhibition registration system that can accommodate:

- A customisable front-end that will represent the brand look and feel of the show, as well as the delegate user-journey when applying to participate.

- Exhibitors should be able to apply to participate by registering their contact information and trade-show participation in accordance with predetermined criteria. They should be able to select their exhibition package and any associated show services.
from a list of participation options. This should be linked to floor-placement selection where historic exhibitors may have the option of retaining their previous stand placement.
- Buyers should be able to apply via this integrated system. The data to be captured would include their participation requirements against pre-determined criteria and the capturing of encrypted credit card information.
- An independent vetting agent should be able to access buyer applications to review information provided by buyers in order to either accept or decline applications.
- The system should allow for tour itineraries to be loaded for selection by buyers. Upon selection of tours, buyer's travel data that is captured on the system should enable a travel management company to book and manage the travel logistics of each buyer.
- Media delegates, stakeholders (including VIP), visitors, crew and staff delegate registration should also be accommodated in the system.
- Mass mailing functionality should form part of the system whereby branded, segmented mailers per target audience may be issued to communicate logistics and general show information. This should also encompass the deployment of invitations and an RSVP function to track participation at specific events.
- Users should be able to draw live reports from the system on registration statistics, application status and conversion for each participation category, as well as mailer deployment reports
- A system must be able to provide all the information required by the TMC when making a booking for hosted buyers, i.e. frequent flyer number, departure/arrival dates etc.
